ACADEMIC COURSE SCHEDULE

SPRING 2027: January 18, 2027 - May 14, 2027

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

BIB120 New Testament Literature (3) A survey of New Testament literature stressing the major features and genre of each book. Special attention is also given to the theology, historical context, and background of each book.
BIB213 General Epistles (3) Prerequisite: BIB120, BIB220; James; I and II Peter; I, II, III John; and Jude are studied in relation to their content, interpretation, distinctive teaching, and significance to the canon of the New Testament.

THE124 Pentecostal Theology (3) This course introduces the student on the tenets of the Assemblies of God. Emphasis is placed on the foundation of Pentecostalism, an examination of the four cardinal doctrines of the Assemblies of God such as the role and work of the Spirit in relation to baptism, salvation, healing, and the second coming of Christ.
THE256 Theological Ethics for Christian Leaders (3) This course is a study of ethics from a theological and biblical perspective. It provides the foundation for ethical analysis of modern and moral challenges at the personal and public level of life. Topics covered include the study of virtue, deontology, teleology and utilitarianism.
THE430 Theology of the Trinity (3) Prerequisite: THE103, THE124, THE256; This course provides an advanced study of the Christian doctrine of the Trinity, examining its biblical foundations, historical development, and theological interpretations throughout church history. Students will explore key biblical passages concerning the nature of God and the relationship between the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, as well as the theological debates that shaped the development of Trinitarian doctrine in the early Church. Special attention is given to the contributions of early Church theologians, the ecumenical councils, and the development of orthodox and heterodox understandings of the Trinity. The course also examines significant developments in medieval, Reformation, and modern theology, including classical, hierarchical, relational, and social models of the Trinity. Through the study of influential theologians and contemporary theological debates, students will critically evaluate various understandings of the Trinity and their implications for Christian theology, faith, and practice.

MIN110 Practicum I: Spiritual Gifts in Ministry (1) Practicum courses are designed to serve as an opportunity to learn the essentials of ministry, integrate academic learning with practical ministry experience, discern one's call, and learn the liturgical practices of the church. Students are required to put in practice their learnings by serving in a church, ministry, or organization. Topics covered in this course include: spiritual gifts and their classifications, servant profiles, personal style, and passion ministry categories.
MIN130 Practicum III: Ministerial Ordinances and Rites (1) Practicum III focuses on learning how to implement the ordinances and rites of the church. Topics covered in this course include: How to baptize, marry, bury, administer Communion, altar prayer, laying on hands, praying for the sick, healing, and deliverance.
MIN161 Discipleship Making (3) This course teaches students the interpersonal relationship skills that are necessary in mentoring new believers in their faith. It also teaches students how to lead small groups, organize and plan discipleship courses and events, and how to teach the fundamentals of the Christian faith and practice.
MIN270 A Spirit Empowered Church: An Acts 2 Model (3) A biblical, comprehensive, and strategic plan requires the empowerment of the Spirit to produce spiritual fruit and a flourishing church. The strategic plan is based on Acts 2 and focuses on developing Spirit-empowered disciples who will be involved in five functions found there: connect, grow, serve, go, and worship. Assessment tools are used to identify areas where changes are needed, and the strategic plan is used to focus on God's vision for each local church.
MIN Preaching I (3) (online only)
MIN Preaching II (3) (online only)

HIS202 Church History (3) This course provides an introduction to the history and development of the Christian Church, with particular emphasis on the origin and expansion of Christianity. Students will examine significant ecclesiastical, theological, political, and economic developments that have shaped the Church throughout history, including influential individuals and movements. The course also explores the geographical and cultural contexts that contributed to the spread of Christianity, as well as the Church's influence on society at large.
MAT163 Math and Personal Financial Management (3) An introduction to algebra for financial arithmetic and an introduction to consumer math that will aid the student's financial life. Topics included within this course are accounting principles, taxing, simple and compound interest, investments, and credit cards.

PSY112 Marriage and Family (3) A thorough study of marriage and family systems. It includes an examination of courtship, marital adjustments, and communication. Attention will be given to domestic violence, abuse, parenting, and families with children who have disabilities.
SPE106 Public Speaking (3) This introductory course is designed to prepare students to be effective oral communicators in all aspects of public presentations including design and delivery of the public speech. The course is appropriate for all students interested in developing their public speaking knowledge and skills.

BUS122 Quantitative Business Methods (3) Provides the student with experience in the mathematical applications unique to the business worlds of retailing, banking, and finance. (online only)

ECO210 Macroeconomics (3) Prerequisites: BUS111; An introduction to the principles of economic analysis, economic institutions, and the issues of public policy. Includes analysis of the national economy, money and credit, income, employment, prices, and monetary and fiscal policies. (online only)

PSY221 Personality Theory (3) This course provides an overview of the major components and development of personality theory. Students will examine the work of major personality theorists, critically evaluate their perspectives, and explore their contributions to understanding human personality and behavior.

PSY343 Research Methods (3) Prerequisite: PSY101, STA300; This course is designed to acquaint the student with basic experimental procedures and designs, laboratory apparatus, and the collection and treatment of experimental and correlational data. Several experiments and experimental reports utilizing appropriate statistical procedures are required of each student.

PSY410 Abnormal Psychology (3) Prerequisite: PSY101; This course is designed to study personality deviation and behavior disorders. The student is acquainted with the nature of the major types of mental disorders, the theories of etiology, and an exposition of the various methods of treatment. Special attention is given to the problems of drug abuse and alcoholism. (online only)

PSY411 Principles of Counseling (3) Prerequisite: 9 units of PSY; This course explores methods and characteristic subjects likely to be of concern to the ministerial and professional counselor. The many aspects of working with individuals are investigated by means of case method and free discussion.
